

Lesson Forty Six

The Power of Your Inner Voice

In the last lesson, we looked at presenting yourself honestly. In this lesson, we'll explore how your inner voice is also important to living authentically.

Your inner voice expresses the honest feelings of your true self and is the source of your inspiration, creativity, and intuition. By listening to your inner voice, you can gain insight into what makes you happy and unhappy.

You can also gain the power to transform your life into one that is more vibrant and fulfilling.

Unfortunately, most of us don't listen our inner voices because we're too busy juggling all of the responsibilities and demands of our daily lives.

The good news is that regardless of how busy or hectic your life may be, there are ways to filter out the distractions so you can hear your inner voice.

As you reconnect with your true self, you can use that voice to guide you to the things that will bring more joy, progress, and peace into your life.

Use these strategies to filter out the noise of daily life and harness the power of your inner voice:

1. Make time for reflection. One way to get in touch with your inner voice is to set aside a regular time for self-reflection. Think about the things in your life that are going well and that make you happy, as well as the things that you're dissatisfied with.
  - It's important to be honest and open with yourself as you reflect on your life, so that you can hear your true inner voice. Ignore the critical voices from the past and avoid letting society tell you how to live your life.
  - Reflect on how you truly feel about the direction your life is taking.
  - Seek out a place and time for your moments of self-reflection where you can be alone and uninterrupted for at least 30 minutes.
  - Choose a place where you can relax, such as a sofa or bed. If you find it easier to practice self-reflection by taking a relaxing nature walk, performing some gentle stretching exercises, practicing controlled breathing, or doing yoga poses, this is fine as well.
  - Write down the thoughts, impressions, and dreams that emerge during your self-reflection time. Once you begin to practice self-reflection on a regular basis, you'll start to hear your true inner voice. It's helpful to record the insight that you gain.
  - Making lists, keeping a journal, or even sharing your impressions with a close friend can help you to focus on the areas that you want to change in order to bring more happiness and joy into your life.
2. Learn to trust your inner voice and take action on your discoveries. As you gain experience listening to your inner voice and seeking clues in your dreams, learn to trust that voice.
  - It's okay to begin small, but make time each day to do something that you truly enjoy. Each step that you take will put you one step closer to living the life that you see in your dreams.
  - Just as you are working to incorporate more things into your daily life that bring you true joy, reduce or eliminate those tasks and habits that bring you down. As time passes, it may be that you need to move on to a new career or abandon certain relationships.
  - Let go of things and people that drain your energy and prevent you from being truly happy.

While it will take some time, practicing self-reflection on a regular basis can teach you how to hear your true inner voice and use it to guide you to true authenticity and greater happiness and joy in your life.

In the next lesson, you'll learn some strategies for being proud to cultivate your own originality.

Here's what you need to do today:

Make time for reflection. Set aside a regular reflecting time of at least 30 minutes.

In your first reflection, reflect on the direction that your life is heading. Do you see it unfolding authentically?

What changes would you like to make to increase your authenticity? Plan these changes in your journal and take action to get started on them.